PARTICIPATION AGREEMENT

 Note: Both the participant and a parent or legal guardian must read and sign this form before the participant may participate.*

Sailing, like most sports involves an element of risk to injury. Participants will be sailing in water deeper than they can stand, a sudden wind gust could cause their boat to capsize, parts of the boat can cause injury, and exposure to the elements, if not properly prepared can cause problems. The water environment contains many sharp objects such as oyster shells and other debris.

In an effort to make sailing classes as safe as possible, participant will be instructed in rules which will reduce the risks. It is vital that the participant follow the directions of the instructors and the Junior Sailing Program rules.

We have read the above information concerning the risk involved in sailing. We understand and assume the risk involved in participating in the sailing classes.

We will abide by the rules of the Pensacola Yacht Club and the Junior Sailing Program and those rules established for the program.

We further agree to hold the Pensacola Yacht Club, instructional program or host locations, US Sailing, and their representatives harmless (including all costs of defense and attorneys' fees) from any claim we might otherwise have for personal injuries, death, and/or property damage even when any such injury, death, or property damage results in whole or in part from any form or degree of negligence on the part of the parties being held harmless and any of their officers, members, instructors, employees, and volunteers or subcontractors and also when such injury, death, or property damage is caused or contributed to by a defect in the premises, vessel, appurtenance, and/or equipment of any kind, even a defect that pre-exists the signing of this agreement.
